S. CONNELLVILLE FREEHOLDERS ARE OPPOSED TO INCORPORATION.

Petition Circulators Are Unable to Secure the Required Number of Signers and the Proposition Dropped.

IT REQUIRES A MAJORITY

Still Talking the Incorporation Idea, But the Residents Incline to Annexation With Connellsville Instead, And Territory Included.

Incorporation of South Connellsville into a separate borough seems to be dead, although those favoring the idea are still at work. Practically every property owner in the proposed borough has been seen and not nearly enough signers have been received to make the action legal. Some of the enthusiastic ones, it is said, have dropped out of the movement entirely, and the incorporation of the town is now a very remote possibility.

At the last meeting of the incorporation enthusiasts the paper was prepared for a petition to court by Attorney R. S. Matthews. It was enthusiastically received at the meeting at Richey Church, and the indications were that it would be freely signed. It developed, however, that all those favoring incorporation were at the meeting and when the petitions were circulated throughout the territory very few additional signers were received, with the result that after the entire territory was canvassed the making of the territory a separate borough considered but an imaginary project.

From the tone of the expressions of those residing in the proposed new territory, all favored annexation with Connellsville instead of making a separate borough of South Connellsville. The costs incident to the maintenance of a separate borough and the great expense attendant upon its erection, with the possibility of the compulsory sewer system, besides maintenance of additional officials are cited as extraordinary expenses that the population cannot afford.

The great territory which covers much vacant land and but few families and dwellings is also pointed out as one of the undesirable features, while on the other hand the advantages of being a part of Greater Connellsville is set forth by the property owners. Separate from Connellsville, these taxpayers declare that they are working as a village town while as a part of Connellsville, they, with proper representation can secure at a nominal rate of taxes, not as great as at present the advantages which are now afforded to the greater town. Situated at the junction of a populous and prosperous, as well as a splendid thoroughfare, the residents at Gibson which comprises the greater portion of South Connellsville, declare that they prefer to be a part of Connellsville. By annexation they say that they will receive police and fire protection at no greater expense than they are subjected to at present. They do not favor taking in all the territory that the incorporationists propose, but feel that if the real part of the town is annexed it will be all the better for them.

The incorporation idea is practically dead, the Greenwald annexationists having demonstrated the idea of setting into Greater Connellsville as quickly as possible and without any favor about a separate borough. Some of the would be officials are still endeavoring to revive the incorporation of the suburb but they are receiving the story star.

The law provides that there must be a majority of the freeholders petitioning the court, and the court shall decide upon the expediency and necessity of a separate borough.

THE OVERHOLT ESTATE IN ORPHANS' COURT

Judge Hears Exceptions Filed to Surcharging Executors About $100,000 and Confirms Sale.

Lengthy arguments were made in Orphans' Court, Greensburg, Saturday before Judge John D. Steel on the exceptions filed to the decree of the court in which the executors of the estate of Abraham Overholt, late of East Huntingdon township, deceased, were surcharged in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Abraham Overholt, proprietor of the famous Broadford distillery, died in 1879, but his estate has not been finally settled in the Orphans' Court.

Five separate accounts were filed by executors and a sixth and final account was filed by the direction of the court within the last year. In this account the executors reported that there was no fund for distribution in their hands. A number of the legatees filed exceptions to this account, and upon hearing the executors surcharged and the accountants the amount above stated.

An order of sale was made in the estate of William A. Greenlee, late of Fayette county, deceased.

Mrs. Harriet Ruff and John S. Parker, trustees to make sale of the real estate of Abraham Ruff, late of Mt. Pleasant township, deceased, reported that they had sold a lot of ground in Scottsdale, late the property of the deceased, to John L. Raynor for $8,000. The return was confirmed by the court.

CHEAP TELEPHONE SERVICE.

One Over Into Wharton Township From West Virginia.

The Clifton-Guthrie Telephone Company has established a new record for cheap telephone service. The line extends from Clifton Mills, W. Va., to Shafter, Wharton township, and the cost of $1 per year to each subscriber was reduced to about 10 cents per month for the past year, when, at the annual meeting a dividend of $176 was declared and paid to each subscriber. This reduced the actual cost to $1.24 a year for each subscriber.

The line is a farmer's line and although there are but 13 subscribers of the Clifton-Guthrie company the line connects with other companies giving a wide service. The dividend was derived mainly from tolls. William Spindler is president of the company and John Burns is secretary.

Mrs. Sherman raised a storm in the political circles when she got in politics by giving Mrs. Sherman a reception at the New Willard hotel Sunday and it is predicted by the friends of Mrs. Sherman that she will be a factor in the political future, that the wife of the Vice President has made a grave mistake by antagonizing her and that Mrs. Sherman would pay dearly for it.

WHO WILL PLANT THE FLOWER BEDS?

Speculation as to the Beautifying of the Public Grounds in Now Going the Rounds.

The green grass on the Public Lawn came sprouting in all its glory this morning, and it started a comment as to where the flowers for decorating the black beds of dirt were to come from. It is almost time to be thinking about the flowers, but no one has come forward with an offer to fill the beds.

In former years they have been planted by patriotic citizens. The Council usually paying out good money for the great big center piece. There are eight flower beds outside of this one, and those who have business about the public building are wondering this year where the flowers are to come from.

Chief of Police B. Rottler last year took up all the flowers and placed them in the basement of the public building, but those who say these flowers will not grow. If they do grow there will be a big saving in the making of the flower beds this year. The lawn is in a remarkably fine state of preservation this year and but little money will have to be expended upon it.

SEE TRUE BILLS FOR KIDNAPERS.

A Prisoner Informs Commonwealth Who Mrs. Boyle Really Is.

DAUGHTER OF WEALTHY PARENTS

Judge's Address to Jury Indicates That True Bills Will Be Brought In—Defense Feels That They Have Been Undetermined

MEMORIAL, April 19.—(Special)

It is true that the Commonwealth has got this Warren evidence and it is true that the Commonwealth is going to identify Mrs. Boyle with the Sharon and Warren telegrams then everything has gone to smithy. The statement made this morning by one of the attorneys engaged for the defense of Mrs. James Boyle, charged with being implicated with kidnaping Billy Whittier. The state went to make an informed that on last Saturday afternoon in a court of commonwealth succeeded in fully identifying Mrs. Boyle. According to information that leaked out this morning from one man, a prisoner the woman is not married to Boyle, but she is the daughter of very wealthy and respectable parents whose character and standing is above reproach.

Attorney Cochran who is looking after the Whittier interests will not for the present give out the names and address of that of the prisoner but will make a fight to have them admitted as evidence. All doubt as to whether Mrs. Boyle will be indicted for complicity in the kidnaping was dispelled this morning when Judge A. W. Williams made his address to the Grand Jury. In closing he made direct reference to the Whittier case and to Mrs. Boyle and her husband. The words had great effect on the jury and it is now anticipated that true bills will be found against the couple.

Will Women Quit Church Because Hats Must Fall?

If you cannot get your new summer hat on straight without the aid of a looking glass don't go to the First Methodist Episcopal Church. The edict has gone forth that ladies must remove their headgear during services.

Rev. A. A. Able, the pastor, made this announcement yesterday morning for the first time and it caused consternation among the feminine members. The men grinned happily.

Some of the ladies in attendance took their hats off but others braved the clouded brow and stormy looks of their pastor and stood, or sat, put on keeping the headgear in place.

Those who took their hats off had all kinds of trouble getting them back again and several of the young ladies had to carry their hats home in their hands because they could not put them on again.

At the Easter Sunday exercises it was almost impossible to see the children who participated because of the large hats which obscured the Fashions was the subject discussed Saturday at a well attended meeting of the Union Farmers' Club of Fayette county held Saturday at Highland Park, Dunbar township, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. As the wives of the farmers are in a position to know more about fashions than the opinion sex they usually were given full advantage of the opportunity given by Mrs. Susan Smith, Mrs. J. H. Junk, real a paper on "Fashions Harmonizing With Health and Manliness." The queries were unusually interesting and many of the men took advantage of the opportunity given them to acquire knowledge along the lines of fashions. The subject was fully discussed and the papers read by the ladies contained nothing detrimental to fashions. A feature of the meeting was an elegantly appointed dinner at 12 o'clock by Mrs. Freed and daughter, Miss and Sara Freed.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed:

The very instant that you were married, you became entitled to anything you want in our great big store, on credit.

That's a pretty blunt way of saying it, but it's true nevertheless, and we want you to know it.

The first and most important thing for you to do is to get a home of your own right away. It doesn't have to be a mansion—love in a cottage is all right, providing the cottage is comfortably furnished. This has been the experience of millions of young couples before you, so we are justified in saying it.

If you haven't enough money to pay cash for everything you need, then for the sake of happiness, use your credit. It's good here all the time. And it doesn't cost you a penny extra. But what you do, get that home NOW, furnish it NOW, live in and enjoy it NOW. Don't make the mistake of putting off and putting off until you have worn the glamor off of your romance.

This store is honored by the patronage of more people in all walks of life than any furniture house in Western Pennsylvania. It will consider itself honored to secure your good will, whether you wish to buy on credit or on any other basis. We trust the people so thoroughly and so conscientiously that we have compelled them to trust us in every detail of the business.

Hundreds of young couples, newly married, come to us every year and tell us to equip their homes. Ninety per cent. of them pay for their goods a little at a time. And they are the best people on earth—the good, substantial citizens who are entitled to every assistance and accommodation that we can extend.

If you come to us, we'll treat you with the same courtesy, respect and consideration that we give all others. We will show you the world's finest furniture, carpets, rugs, curtains and household goods, all marked in plain figures and prices in a common sense manner.

And you will be equally welcome as a visitor or as a purchaser. Can we do more to EARN your trade?

Cordially yours,

THE DIFFERENCE

Simple Explanation of a Matter Not Generally Understood

A great many people do not understand the difference between checks and cash, nor why it is so much safer to pay by check. The difference is just this: Bank notes, United States bills, gold and silver certificates, and gold and silver coins are just as good in the hands of one man as another. If they are lost they are irretrievably gone because they can be used so easily. A check, if lost, is protected by the fact that it is made payable to a particular party and while it is just as good as cash to that party, it is absolutely worthless to anyone else without an order of endorsement. This being the case the wisdom of paying by check is apparent and the First National Bank of Connelleville cordially invites your account no matter how small.

The Kitchen Floor.

It is the general opinion that nothing is quite so satisfactory and cleanly as a bare kitchen floor which requires the time honored scrubbing with soap and water, and were it not for the labor of keeping such a floor they would be more generally in favor with housekeepers. The work of scrubbing may be greatly lightened by using an each handful of water a solution made by dissolving a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in a small quantity of hot water. If this is used on the floor each week old grease which seemed quite hopeless will gradually fade away. It is also excellent for scrubbing stone steps and woodwork.

DOZEN IN CLASS TO BE GRADUATED.

Great Interest in Coming
Commencement of East
Huntingdon Twp.

IT IS TO BE HELD AT TARR

These Annual Events Attract Attention For They Are Not Permitted to Grow Dull With Artificial Dignity. Bright Lecturer Always Engaged.

SCOTTSDALE, April 19.—The people of East Huntingdon township are greatly interested in the coming commencement of the Township High School, which is an event of interest, into which the ones in charge never allow dullness to enter. There will be an even dozen graduates this year at the commencement exercises which take place at Tarr on May 7th. Previous commencements have been held at Alverton, where the Township High School is located, but the Director this year concluded that the commencement should be observed at Tarr. The members of the graduating class are: Jennie Holtzer Workman of Hawley; Helen Grace Ramsey of Tarr; Georgia Isabella Beyer of Bethany; Helen Rachel Byerly of Tarr; Arthur Leon Dier, of Bethany; Edward Thomas Clark of Tarr; Mary Catherine Stauffer of North Scottsdale; Eli Burrell Weaver of Scottsdale; Edythe Williams of Alverton; Cora M. Smith of Ruffsdale; Nettie Gertrude Hayes of Ruffsdale; and Harry T. Dodson of Alverton.

The School Board is composed of George W. Baker, President; W. I. Cotton, Secretary; H. H. Tarr, Treasurer; and J. H. Hays, J. W. Hinnert and G. W. Leasure. It is customary to have a lecturer present at commencement and while he is not chosen as a comedian he is no highbrow dandy with dignity.

One Week's Unbroken Services. Rev. Jay Benson Hamilton, D. D., at the First Methodist Episcopal Church of which Rev. R. B. Mansell is the pastor, began a week's services yesterday which will be of interest to all. In the morning Dr. Hamilton preached the first of a series of illustrated sermons on the life of Christ, which are illustrated by the most and rarest pictures, collected at great expense. These meetings will take place each evening and cover the life of the Savior, step by step from the manger to the cross. Everywhere they have been given, these sermons and pictures have drawn large audiences, and have produced a profound impression upon all classes who have heard them.

Home From Panama. Harry Newcomer, a young man of town, who has been for a number of years on government duty in the Canal zone, arrived home on Saturday to spend sometime visiting his mother, Mrs. Munka E. Newcomer of Chestnut street, and his brothers, Clyde and Frank M. Newcomer.

Many Out Saturday Evening. The close of a beautiful spring day and one marked as a busy day by many people on the streets of Scottsdale Saturday evening, and the town had a more lively appearance than it has had any evening for many months past.

Another Proof For Read. After reading the statement of W. P. Read of Chicago, that the smoke of the coke region is a blessing instead of a curse, as many suppose it to be, and that the smoke is really productive of general good health, Dennis Doffaven, proprietor of the restaurant on Broadway advanced an additional idea on the matter. Mr. Doffaven was a coal miner of several years' experience and one who noticed things while at work and studied the phases of mining life. He drew attention to the result on wounds where coal dust penetrated and remained in them as it frequently does in accidents in coal mines. "Where there are grains of coal in a wound," said Mr. Doffaven, "the flesh heals over the coal dirt if it is not removed and leaves the bite of coal in the skin without any trouble. If one is wounded in any way and any other kind of matter is left in the wound it does not heal, but instead serious consequences follow. The coal is entirely different, and miners' lungs are black with it, but they suffer very little from any kind of lung trouble, except sometimes from miners' asthma."

A Swimming Day. The water was fine yesterday, it is said. Anyway the mercury got above the 80 mark on the pipe, and every one wanted to shed their Sunday coats. Several boys proposed in the morning that the day be devoted to hunking up the old swimmer, and whether the design was carried out or not could not be learned this morning. None of the boys was about.

An Old Peril Made New. And now added to the danger of the honk, honk without that tear about the streets, and make the people take care in crossing the highways, for fear of being struck by a couple of tons of steel, iron, gasoline, glass, inflated rubber and swollen fortune, an old peril made new has appeared. It is the bicycle, that two wheeled contraption that used to be so popular and that some people thought would surely drive the horse to the backwoods. There has been a perfect epidemic of bicycles on the streets recently and they are run without any warning either. "The bicyclist seems to think that he can outgrow of importance if he runs some one down," in the way one person explained the substance of the warning bell or looker. Another explained that the silence was caused by extreme modesty that prevented the bicyclist from making any noise, because they can't make an equal fuss with the honk, honk cars.

Mrs. Mary Jean Walton, a widow, died at her home at the corner of Grant and Everett avenues, on Sunday morning, after five days' illness from broncho-pneumonia, aged 75 years. The body was taken today to Altoona where the funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Of a Personal Nature. Mrs. H. W. Miller and daughter Miss Emma, returned home from Pittsburgh Saturday where they had been visiting Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Miller. Mrs. Maratta is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Fred F. L. Brown was visiting friends in Pittsburgh on Saturday. Miss Adelle Randle was a visitor to Pittsburgh on Saturday.

J. A. Barnhart spent Saturday in the Smoky City on business.

W. D. Pratte was in Brownsville on Saturday.

A DAWSON CONTEST'S CLOSE IS CELEBRATED

Cochran Memorial Church Scene of Enjoyable Social Time Following Strenuous Work.

DAWSON, April 19.—The Cochran Memorial Church, Dawson, was the scene of a very pretty social affair Friday evening. A contest had been on for some weeks between the Sunday School classes of L. L. Thomas and B. S. Forsythe. Mr. Thomas is teacher of the young ladies class and Mr. Forsythe teacher of the young men's class. The feature of the contest was that the class securing the more new members was to be the victors and the losing side was to treat the other to a dinner. The classes worked hard, each side getting many new members. The Sunday School grew till it was one of the largest in the county and at the close of the contest it was found that the girls class had won by a very small margin. So it was up to the boys to give the dinner. The dinner was an elaborate one with about 250 guests present. The dining room of the church was beautifully decorated in the classes' colors, cut flowers, laurel and potted plants which gave it a beautiful appearance. The evening was spent in social talks, music, etc., and several good addresses were made.

MANNINGTON PLANT BURNS

$50,000 Loss and 150 Men Thrown Out of Employment.

Mannington, W. Va., April 19.—The Mannington glass works was destroyed by fire, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. Fifteen thousand dollars' worth of made-up ware awaiting shipment was destroyed.

Orders which would have kept the factory running full force for a year had been received. The fire will throw 150 men out of employment.

Women to Clean Washington's Streets. The women of the Twentieth Century club in Washington are going to help the District commission to keep the streets of the city clean—for one day. Testimony was given by several members that the streets in front of their homes and in the parkways were littered with waste paper and other debris. The club passed resolutions deploring the inefficiency of the authorities and declaring that "we, the women of the Twentieth Century club, and as many of our friends and neighbors as we can enlist will supplement the efforts of the commissioner by ourselves personally picking up the papers on streets and parkways in the vicinity of our homes on Thursday, April 15, at 9 o'clock in the morning."

SUMMER COTTAGE THE TAFTS WILL OCCUPY AT BEVERLY, MASS.

Mrs. Taft has decided to take the Robert D. Evans cottage at Beverly, Mass., for the summer residence of the presidential family. The president left the matter of selecting the summer capital entirely to Mrs. Taft. They will go to Beverly as soon as Congress adjourns. The cottage is two stories and a half and is painted green. There is a great covered porch over the private driveway leading to the house, and running around three sides of it is a wide veranda, while on the ocean side is a tower crowned with a dome. The entire house is sumptuously furnished, and there is a stable large enough for eight horses; also a large garage. The house is lighted by electricity and has every modern convenience. Adjoining it are golf links, where the president will take most of his outdoor exercise.

THE SOISSON.

THEATRE

Great Vaudeville Bill.

Maximus, the Russian strong man, is the feature of the vaudeville show to be given in the Soisson Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 19, 20 and 21. He is a youth of tremendous proportions, a giant in strength and another bandow of perfect physical development. It is said this man is an escaped political prisoner from the mines of Siberia and his act carries out this thought. He is shown at the beginning in a heavily barred cage-like cell—a shattering lion, who, upon awaking, tears the bars asunder and walks away to freedom, carrying his guard off captive. Maximus is stronger than half a dozen ordinary strong men. As an example of his physical prowess, he stands between two powerful draft horses, and allows them to pull in opposite directions while he holds them steadfast. Another trick of his is to permit an automobile to run over him. He has not any fake about Maximus' strength. He bends huge steel bars and breaks great chains as if they were bits of twine and in a score of other ways demonstrates beyond peradventure that his like is not to be seen if Hercules had. Half the strength of Maximus, he must have made the untrained athletes look like weaklings, for beside Maximus, the ordinary professional strong man is a flimsy.

Bernard & Harris will appear in a song and dance sketch. They are a very neat young couple, paragon of funniness, and endowed with good singing voices.

Francis Wood will exhibit his skill as a manipulator of hoops. He has a fashion of making the hoops go whither he pleases, and by a clever twist of the wrist compels them to execute most artistic and amazing evolutions.

The Weston Sisters will entertain with songs, dances and comedy, concluding their act with a very scrappy boxing specialty. They are nimble foot and quick of action and in their boxing bout give very good account of themselves.

No More Three-Cent Loaves. Cincinnati, April 19.—The master bakers of Cincinnati have decided as a result of the rise in the price of wheat to discontinue the three-cent loaf, the lowest loaf of bread which have been supplied from some bakeries and that from now on nothing but the standard five-cent loaf will be supplied to the trade.

The Gown She Wanted.
A pompous colored woman waddled into the cloak department of a Cleveland store.

"Can I direct you, madam?" inquired one of the managers.

"Yes, sah. Ah wants the gown department."

"What kind of gown, madam?" further inquired the official.

"Why, women's gowns, of co'se," replied the customer disgustedly. "Tall think Ah wants a gown fo' a man?"

"But, madam," explained the manager, "you see, we have different kinds of gowns. There are tailor made gowns, evening gowns and night gowns."

"No, sah," put in the woman promptly. "Ah don't want no tailor made gowns or nightgowns or early in the evening gowns. What Ah wants is jes' a plain gown to do washin' in. Ah wants a calico wrapper. Think what Ah wants."

The Two Highwaymen.
I long have had a quarrel set with Tim. Because he rubbed me. Every day of life was wasted from after bitter strife. I never yet could see the sun go down. But I was angry in my heart for long. The leaves fall in the wind without a tear. Over the dying summer, I have known No trace with time nor time's accompaniment.

The fair world is the witness of a crime. Repeated every hour. For life and breath are sweet to all who live, and bitterly the voices of these robbers of the breath sound in each ear and chill the passerby. What have we done to these, these monstrous times? What have we done to death that we must die?

—Wittred Blunt Seawen.

Just Like the Nobility.
An old English nurse had a very pretty daughter. Two girls met a millionaire broker at a week end party. The man proposed, and they were married—An excellent match.

A friend saw the mother a short time after the wedding.

"Molly has done well, hasn't she?" she said.

"She has that, ma'am," said the old woman.

"Her husband is very rich, isn't he?"

"Right! Save us, yes. Ye should see, ma'am, Molly's brougham, her coachman and footman, her notes and her diamonds and pearls. Oh, she lives high—quite like the nobility and gentry, ma'am! Why, she strips for dinner!"

Hard on the Chorus Girls.
A prominent stage manager narrates an amusing incident which occurred during a rehearsal of "The Pirates of Penzance" when he was bringing out the piece. At the point where Frederick, the hero, comes in and the girls sing:

"Oh, is there not one maiden here Whose beauty face and hair complexion Have caused all hope to disappear Of ever winning man's affection?"

a chorusman who had been watching the rehearsal intently broke out with the audible comment:

"Begorra, and I think there's a lot of them!"

Quite a Sportman.
"Rue," said the girl's father, "what qualifications have you? What is there about you to make you consider yourself worthy of my daughter? Why do you think I ought to accept you as a son-in-law?"

"Since you pin me down to it, I will tell you candidly," the young man replied, "that I have never had a very high opinion of my qualifications. I am here strictly because I hate to give pain. Your daughter accepted me before I had a chance to blush what I had started to say, which was not what she seemed to think I was going to be. If you do not think I am worthy of her and if you are convinced that I am not the man you desire for a son-in-law I will inform you now that I am one of the best losers you ever saw."

His Fixed Income.
The main figure in a play was a lazy dandy named Dick Sutton, arrested at the instance of his wife, who alleged that he contributed nothing to her support and refused to work.

During the examination of Sutton his counsel, a young lawyer, asked:

"Dick, have you any fixed income?"

Sutton was puzzled by the term. Counsel explained that the expression meant a certainty, money paid not for odd jobs, but for steady employment.

"I think I have a fixed income, sah," said he.

"And what is this fixed income?" was the next question.

"Well, sah," answered Dick, with a broad grin in the direction of Colonel Martin, the young lawyer's partner, "de colonel dere allows give me fo' dollars an' a sack o' flour on 'lection day!"

Qualities in Men.
A merry and mirthful nature brings daylight. A suspicious nature insensibly imparts its chill to every generous soul within its reach. A bold and frank nature overcomes men's fears in men. Firmness makes them firm. Taste directs, stimulates and develops taste.—Henry Ward Beecher.

He Made a Hit.
A hardware store in St. Louis advertised for an errand boy. As it happened, the boss was talking to a customer when a boy came in. Thinking he wanted to buy something, he examined himself and, going over to the boy, asked him what he could do for him. The boy told him that he came in answer to his advertisement and asked for the job.

Well, of course the boss got mad by being disturbed while he was talking to a customer. He said to the boy: "You go outside and walk a block. If I call you back, why, I will hire you. If I don't, why, you just keep right on walking."

The boy did as he was told; but, going out, he picked up a shovel that was standing near the door, put it on his back and started down the street.

Before he had gone ten feet the old man was after him, yelling: "Come back! Come back!"

The boy came back, took off his coat and asked where he wanted him to work—downstairs or upstairs or where.

The man took one good look at him and said: "I guess I'll hire you. Never mind putting your coat on. Start right in."

Well Informed.
The new minister in a Georgia church was delivering his first sermon. The darky janitor was a critical listener from the back corner of the church. The minister's sermon was eloquent, and his prayers seemed to cover the whole category of human wants.

After the services one of the deacons asked the old darky what he thought of the new minister. "Dout you think he offers up a good prayer, Joe?"

"Ah, noo, substintly doo, boss. Why, dat must axed de good Lord fo' things dat do odder preacher didn't even know he had!"—Everybody's.

An Unflattering Photograph.
At the famous Mark Twain dinner a few years ago nearly every literary celebrity of the country was present. After the dinner the guests were assembled and photographed in groups. Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, the novelist, who had gone to the dinner under the escort of W. J. Laughton, was in one of these groups. If other photographs had been subject to her this one could tell. And when the photograph was printed, as they all were, Mrs. Woodrow was the recipient of dozens of letters, typical of which came the following from Life:

Dear Madam—After seeing your picture in this week's Harper's Weekly we are compelled to inform you that no more contributions from your pen are even in the order of merit. You must take care, but under the circumstances no other course is open to us. In heartfelt sympathy we beg to remain,

Yours truly,
THE EDITORS.

This was bad enough, but even Mr. Laughton had his fling in his own characteristic way. He was moved to poetry:

Oh, Nancy Wilson Woodrow,
Hear me as I declare,
If you look like that picture,
I didn't take it there!

Fashion.
A great number of our wants are simply special wants of the imagination. We want them simply because we think that we want them. To them belongs all which pertains to fashion so far as it is distinguished neither by beauty nor by convenience nor by anything from things of the same kind, except merely that it is fashion.—Joanna Gottlieb Fichte.

The Boy and the Publisher.
A New York publisher having business at the capitol connected with pending legislation with reference to international copyrights, was hurrying through a corridor of the building when he encountered a "hop o' my thumb" scurrying along with an armful of papers larger than himself.

"Hello, son," cried the publisher. "And what may be your position in this establishment?"

"I'm a page, sir," answered the lad.

"A page! Why, my boy, you're scarcely large enough for a paragraph!"—Lippincott's.

Not to Be Forgotten.
Mr. Hammond's face was so ugly as to be almost grotesque, although nobody ever thought about his looks after hearing him talk. "If I hadn't known I was one of the homeliest people in the world I might have been surprised at a remark made by old Popp, the body servant of one of my southern friends," he once said.

"I hadn't seen Popp for fifteen years, and as I had grown from a boy to a man in that time I did not expect him to remember me. But he said, 'Howdy, Marne Hammond, sah! the moment he caught sight of me.'"

"So you remember me, Popp?"

"'Couldn't nebbber forgit yo' face, Marne Hammond, sah,' grunted Popp. 'It's so kinder complicated!'"

An Equine Hero.
Lake Poland, the most punctilious of Vermont Yankees, and Colonel Tom Turner of Kentucky, horseman, breeder of fast ones and a fine judge of mint, grew to be great friends when they were in congress together. Poland took Turner up to Vermont as his guest one summer and showed him around. They came to the statue of Ethan Allen, in front of the station house.

"That, Tom," said Poland, "is the statue of Ethan Allen."

"Ethan Allen?" exclaimed Turner. "I always thought Ethan Allen was a horse!"—Saturday Evening Post.

The Wrong Line.
Two telephone girls were talking over the wire one afternoon. The subject of the conversation was a livery party which was to take place the next day. Both were discussing what they should wear and after five minutes had come to no decision. In the midst of this important conversation a masculine voice interrupted, asking humbly what number he had. The lack of any reply did not squelch the inquirer. For he asked again for the number. One of the girls became indignant and scornfully asked:

"What line do you think you are on, anyhow?"

"Well," said the man, "I am not sure, but judging from what I have heard, I should say I was on a clothes-line."

SECRETARY OF WAR, HIS WIFE AND YACHT THAT TAKES THEM TO PANAMA CANAL

WASHINGTON, April 19.—President Taft has placed the presidential yacht, the Mayflower, at the disposal of Mr. Dickinson, the secretary of war, for a trip to the Panama canal zone. The secretary will be accompanied by Mrs. Dickinson and they will sail for Colon tomorrow. The trip was planned as soon as Mr. Dickinson assumed the war portfolio. Mr. Taft directing that the new secretary at once familiarize himself with every detail of the work and conditions along the route of the canal. The president's last visit to Panama was a memorable one. He closely scrutinized everything connected with the big undertaking, and it is no secret that he intends to point to the progress of the canal as the crowning achievement of his administration when it is drawing to a close. Both the president and the Secretary of War are confident that the canal will give the mid-west and the southwest the greatest impetus these sections have experienced since the advent of railroads. Both men are interested in the wave of river improvement throughout that is sweeping over the west, and the secretary of war intends to give it attention when he returns from Panama. He will remain on the isthmus about four weeks.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

BY MARGARET MAYO

"You talk about your mother! Why, she'd be ashamed to own you!"

"You're gettin' too tony!" Barker sneered. "That's the trouble with you. You ain't been good for nothing since you was at that parson's house. You didn't stay there, and you're no use here. First thing you know you'll be out all round."

thimbering with one of the wagons. Douglas had walked up and down in front of the tents again and again, fighting against a desire to do the very thing that he was doing, but to no purpose, and now that he was here it seemed impossible that he should go away so unsatisfied. He crossed to Jim.

"I heard that Miss Polly didn't ride with you," said Jim.

"What's that to you?"

"She isn't ill?" Douglas demanded anxiously, oblivious to the gruffness in the big fellow's voice.

"She's all right," Jim answered shortly as he shifted uneasily from one foot to the other and avoided the pastor's burning gaze.

"And she's happy, she's content?"

"Sure."

"I'm glad," said Douglas dully. He tried to think of some way to prolong their talk. "I've never heard from her, you know."

"Us folks don't get much time to write," Jim turned away and began care that way. He's not like that."

"I guess I'll have a talk with him," said Jim, and he turned to go.

"Talk," he cried.

He stopped and looked at her in astonishment. It was the first time that he had ever heard that sharp note in her voice. Her tiny figure was stiffened with decision. Her eyes were blazing.

"If you ever dare to speak to him about me, you'll never see me again," Jim was perplexed.

"I mean it, Jim. I've made my choice, and I've come back to you. If you ever try to fix up things between him and me, I'll run away—really and truly away—and you'll never, never get me back."

He shuffled awkwardly to her side and reached apologetically for the little clutched hat. He held it in his big rough hand, toying nervously with the tiny fingers.

"I wouldn't do nothin' that you wasn't a-wantin', Polly. I was just a-tryin' to help you, only I-I never seem to know how."

She turned to him with tear dimmed eyes and rested her hands on his great, broad shoulders, and he saw the place where he dwelt in her heart.

CHAPTER XIV.

THE "leap of death" implements were being carried from the ring, and Jim turned away to superintend their loading.

Performers again rushed by each other on their way to and from the main tent.

Polly stood in the center of the lot, frowning and anxious. The mere mention of the pastor's name had made it seem impossible for her to ride tonight. For hours she had been whipping herself up to the point of doing it, and now her courage failed her. She followed Barker as he came from the ring.

"Mr. Barker, please!"

He turned upon her sharply.

"Well, what is it now?"

"I want to ask you to let me off again tonight!" She spoke in a short, jerky, desperate way.

"What?" he shrieked. "Not go into the ring, with all them people inside what's paid their money because they knowed you?"

"That's it!" she cried. "I can't! I can't!"

"You're gettin' too tony!" Barker sneered. "That's the trouble with you. You ain't been good for nothing since you was at that parson's house. You didn't stay there, and you're no use here. First thing you know you'll be out all round."

thimbering with one of the wagons. Douglas had walked up and down in front of the tents again and again, fighting against a desire to do the very thing that he was doing, but to no purpose, and now that he was here it seemed impossible that he should go away so unsatisfied. He crossed to Jim.

"Out?"

"Sure. You don't think I'm goin' to head my bill with a 'dead one,' do you?"

"I am not a 'dead one,'" she answered excitedly. "I'm the best rider you've had since mother died. You've said so yourself."

"That was afore you got in with them church cranks. You talk about your mother! Why, she'd be ashamed to own you."

"She wouldn't!" cried Polly. Her eyes were flashing; her face was scarlet. The pride of hundreds of years of ancestry was quivering with indignation. "I can ride as well as I ever could, and I'll do it too. I'll do it to-morrow."

"Tomorrow?" echoed Barker. "What do you mean by that?"

"I mean that I can't go into that ring tonight," she declared, "and I won't."

She was desperate now and trading upon a strength beyond her own.

He looked at her with momentary indignation. She was a good rider, the best since her mother, as he had often told her. He could see this meant an issue. He felt she would be on her mettle tomorrow, as far as her work was concerned, if he let her alone tonight.

"All right," he said sullenly. "You can stay off tonight. I got the crowd in there anyway, and I got their money. I'll let Elsie do a turn on Barbican, but tomorrow you'd better show me your old act."

"I'll show you!" she cried. "I'll show you!"

"Well, see that you do." He crossed into the ring.

Polly stood where Barker had left her, white and tense. Jim came toward her from the direction of the wagons. He glanced at her uneasily. "What's been a-sayin' to you?"

"He says I can't ride any more." Her lips quivered slightly. She stared straight ahead of her. "He says I was no good to the people that took me in and I'm no use here."

"It's not so!" thundered Jim.

"No, it's not!" she cried. "I'll show him, Jim! I'll show him tomorrow!"

She turned toward the dressing tent. Jim caught her firmly by the wrist.

"Wait, Polly. You ain't ever goin' into the ring a-foolin' that way." Her eyes met his defiantly.

"What's the difference? What's the difference?" She wrenched her wrist quickly from him and ran into the dressing tent, laughing hysterically.

"Ah! I bring her back to it," murmured Jim as he turned to give orders to the property men.

Most of the "first half props" were locked, and some of the men were asleep under the wagons. The lot was clear. Suddenly he felt some one approaching from the back of the inclosure. He turned and found himself face to face with the stern, solitary figure of the pastor, wrapped in his long black cloak. The moonlight slipped through a rift in the clouds and fell into a circle at his feet.

"What made you come here?" was all Jim said.

"I heard that Miss Polly didn't ride with you," said Jim.

"What's that to you?"

"She isn't ill?" Douglas demanded anxiously, oblivious to the gruffness in the big fellow's voice.

"She's all right," Jim answered shortly as he shifted uneasily from one foot to the other and avoided the pastor's burning gaze.

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARTIN, N.J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering.—Mrs. GEORGE JORDY, Box 40, Martin, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodical pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

and came determinedly to the point.

"Can't I see her, Jim?"

"It's agin the rules." He did not turn. There was another pause; then Douglas started slowly out of the lot.

"Wait a minute," called Jim, as though the words had been wrung from him. The pastor came back with a question in his eyes.

"I lied to you."

"She's not well, then?"

"Oh, yes, she's well enough. It ain't that; it's about her being happy."

"She isn't?" There was a note of unconscious exultation in his voice.

"No. She ain't happy here, sah, she was happy with you."

"Then why did she leave me?"

"I don't know. She wasn't goin' to do it at first. Somethin' 'sah' happened afterwards, somethin' that you an' me didn't know about."

"We will know about it, Jim. Where is she?" His quick eye searched the lot. His voice had regained its old command. He felt that he could conquer worlds.

"You can't do no good that way," answered Jim. "She don't want to see you again."

"Why not?"

"I don't know, but she told me she'd run away if I ever even talked to you about her."

"You needn't talk, Jim. I'll talk for myself. Where is she?"

"She'll be comin' out soon. You can wait around out here with me. I'll let you know in time." He led the way through a narrow passage between the wagons.

Jim and Douglas had barely left the lot, when Deacon Eversong's small, round head slipped cautiously around the corner of the dressing tent. The little deacon glanced anxiously about him. He was monarch of all he surveyed. It was very thrilling to stand here on this forbidden ground smelling the sweetest, gazing at the big red wax ones, studying the unprotected circus properties and listening to the lightning tempo of the band.

CAPTAIN HAIN'S TRIAL IS BEGUN.

He Faces Court for the Shooting of William E. Annis.

INSANITY PLEA TO BE MADE

Army Man's Lawyers Decide to Make Defense on Permanent and Incurable Insanity—Difficulty in Proving Present Mental Health Predicted.

New York, April 19.—What may prove to be the closing scene in a tragedy of national interest began today in the courtroom of the supreme court in Flushing, N. Y., when Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., was called upon to plead before Judge Garrison to the charge of murdering William E. Annis at Bayside on the afternoon of Aug. 16 of last year.

Since the acquittal of T. Jenkins Hains, brother of today's "prisoner at the bar," interest in the case has lagged. It received renewed stimulus from the announcement a few days ago that efforts were being made to induce Mrs. Claudia Abbey Hains, who is accused of being the cause of the shooting, to appear as a witness against her husband.

Chief Counsel for Hains, John F. McInerney, who was chief counsel for T. Jenkins Hains, is in charge of the captain's case. He is assisted by Eugene N. Young, a former assistant district attorney of Queens county, who assisted Mr. McInerney in the first trial. Lawyer Joseph A. Shay of this city, who was also associated with the defense of T. Jenkins Hains, but is now under indictment in Maryland, will not appear in the case, and lawyer Daniel O'Reilly, who figured in the Shaw case, has been retained in his stead.

Insanity, not of the momentary and vanishing character usually invoked as a defense for emotional crimes, but permanent and incurable will be urged. It is stated, as a defense lawyer McInerney announces that no recourse will be had to the expert testimony of alienists for the establishment of his client's mental condition. "Captain Hains' insanity," said he, "will be made a matter of fact and not a matter of personal opinion, no matter how expert. The captain is as demented today as he was on the day of the shooting of Annis at Bayside and he will be so no difficulty whatever in establishing that fact."

The Hains lawyers contend that Captain Hains' mental condition is such that he does not know that Annis is dead. There is a possibility, should the prisoner's derangement be as palpable as his attorneys declare it to be, that the trial may be halted pending the appointment of a commission in lunacy before which the captain would be taken for examination.

Strong Point For Defense. Lawyers think the defense holds the whip hand over the prosecution. If at any stage of the trial the attention looks dubious for the captain, the defense, it is asserted, under the provision of the penal code, can apply for a commission to locate into the mental condition of the prisoner and if found insane the case will be brought to a finish then and there.

On the other hand if the prisoner is convicted of murder in the first degree they can again make application to have him committed to an asylum for the criminal insane.

KILLS WIFE'S VISITOR

Locomotive Fireman Returns Home Unexpectedly—Tragicoy Issues. Altoona, Pa., April 19.—Edward Russell, age twenty-six, was shot by J. E. Craig, who surprised Russell and Miss Craig together in the latter's home in this city. Russell died in the Altoona hospital.

Craig, who is twenty-five years of age and who has been employed as a locomotive fireman in the Pennsylvania railroad yards in this city, has for some time suspected the conduct of his wife, the information coming to him from his brother, who has been making him home with the couple.

Returning unexpectedly from his work and hearing voices in the parlor, which was unlighted, he went in seeking a match he saw Russell and Mrs. Craig together. Russell sprang at the husband and was scuffled for a moment until Craig got out his revolver and fired, the bullet entering Russell's left temple.

Craig came here from New York state about seven years ago and was married four years ago. His wife having formerly been Stabel, a daughter of Deputy Sheriff Stabel at Elmira, New York.

Craig expressed regret for the killing, but claims no fire in defense of his own life.

LIVE WIRE KILLS FARMER

Attempts to Remove Obstruction From Road and Is Shocked.

New Castle, Pa., April 19.—Attempts to remove from the road a telegraph wire blown down by a recent storm David Spiker, a farmer, was electrocuted in Newlin township.

Unnoticed by Spiker, the wire had been over a trolley wire. A neighbor to whom he had been chatting a few moments before chanced to glance back and saw Spiker writhing in the road. He ran back and in trying to draw the man away from the wire was himself knocked down by the shock.

Annual Amateur Event Brings Out a Big Field.

Boston, April 19.—Toeing the mark in today's Boston Marathon race, one of the greatest events of the year on the athletic calendar, will be the third field of amateur runners ever gathered in America. They have come here from all parts of the United States to enter in the test of speed and endurance whose winning confers on the victor the blue ribbon of the amateur running world.

To give the names of the entries would be to call a roll of well known athletes. Among them are Tovanina, the Indian, Growley, White, Miller, Lore and Carr of New York, Foxworth of St. Louis, Hatch of Chicago and Shannon of Pittsburgh. Bob Fowler of this city will start. An international entry is that of B. J. Nelson of South London, England, who hopes to take back to the foggy city the honor of beating the Yankees. Another hopeful entrant is Peter A. Foley who thinks he can overcome the handicap of his fifty-one years even when competing against men half his age.

The Boston Marathon, run from Boston to Ashland and return the finish being at the Boston Athletic association's clubhouse, is an annual event.

HEAVIES FIGHT 50 ROUNDS.

Joe Jeannotte Beats Sam McVey in France.

Paris, April 19.—In the greatest fight witnessed in France since John L. Sullivan and Charley Mitchell drew at Chantilly in 1888, Joe Jeannotte of New York defeated Sam McVey of California in the fiftieth round of a flesh fight.

A great crowd witnessed the game exhibition of heavyweights, the contest lasting for three hours and a half. McVey had the better of the fight up to the fortieth round, and in both the twenty-first and twenty-second rounds he had the New Yorker so groggy that he barely could keep on his feet. Jeannotte bore the punishment bravely and resolutely in a wonderful manner. McVey had almost worn himself out after forty rounds and by this time the New York fighter was coming back. By effective lightning he gradually beat the Californian and practically had him knocked out when the fight ended. McVey's seconds throwing up the sponge. Jeannotte was the favorite in the betting and the purse was $6,000.

It is said Jeannotte now intends to issue a challenge to Jack Johnson for the championship of the world.

IT will soon be time to leave off the overcoat. That suit that has served you so well through the long winter is hardly fit for close daylight inspection. There'll have to be a new suit purchased before you can lay aside the overcoat with any degree of satisfaction and if a fellow wears an overcoat much longer they'll say "it's just to cover his old suit." So it's up to a lot of us to skirmish around and buy some new Spring Togs.

THERE isn't much time left for looking, but you don't require so very much time for your suit is already for you here. Perfect in style, faultless in tailoring, and every fabric authentic in coloring, weave and design. We've prepared handsomely in anticipation of your "hurry needs" when the warm Spring sunshine demands the "laying away" of the overcoat. There's a "shine" on the old suit that won't rub off. It reflects the Spring sunshine all too noticeably. It will have to go with the overcoat and the better dressed class of men are going to choose its successor here. Correct style is more important in the Spring and Summer months than at any other season. It is open to closest inspection because it is your outer garb through these seasons, you want to look spic and span, your very best. There's nothing makes a man feel better than correctly designed, perfect fitting clothes. That's the only kind you'll find here. Our standards are very high, most men hereabouts, know this to be true.

THESE clothes at $15.00 are designed as carefully and made as perfectly as those we offer at much higher prices. The difference being in fabric quality. They're shown in plain black and blue, and an almost endless variety of fancy weaves and designs. Included under this price are conservative models for the man of modest tastes, and there's others so radical in their "make-up" that they cannot but meet the requirements of those who effect the most extreme of "College styles." Fifteen dollars is a popular price and made doubly popular by the values we present at this figure. There's hardly a man that has not "read up" on styles, so you'll know when we show you these models how true to fashion's demands $15 have these clothes been made.

WE direct attention to the display of trunks, bags and suit cases now being made by us. Correctly designed luggage that will be a credit to you where ever you roam. Further than the standing it gives you to take good baggage with you into a strange land. This luggage of ours is faultlessly made. It will withstand the roughest sort of handling. It is "quality" at a very nominal price. Suits cases priced from $1.50 to $12.50; grips from $2.00 to $20.00, and trunks from $4.50 to $42.00. The friends you go to visit are going to "look you over," remember that. It's human nature. They judge your success in life by the way you look, and luggage is no small part of your "make-up" away from home.
